Wolstenholme, Badry Elected To Council

LAC LA BICHE — A healthy interest in civic affairs was shown by the large number of citizens who turned out to vote at the town elections October 18.

The two vacancies on the council, created by the expiration of the terms of Eli Tkachuk and James Hamar, were filled by John Wolstenholme with 126 votes and Louis J. Badry with 94 votes. Out of a possible 562 voters, 243 ballots were cast, making the unusually high rigure of 43% of those eligible.

Votes registered for each candidate were as follows: Wolstenholme 126; Badry 94; Tarrabain 89; Tkachuk 81; Hamar 46.

No election for mayor was required, as Michael Maccagno was elected by acclamation. Members of the local school district board were also elected by acclamation and are L. J. Badry and Jake Klein.

Lac La Biche Huskies Win Against Athabasca 18 to 7

LAC LA BICHE — On Oct. 16, the Athabasca football team played host to the Lac la Biche Huskies. The game began with strong defensive play and there was no scoring in the first quarter.

After several exchanges, the Huskies once more showed their ground power when Loblay raced 65 yards for the Huskies' second touchdown. On this play, Abougoush and Hayduk opened the hole in the line and Bennett once more showed his downfield blocking ability to give Lobay more running room.

In the third quarter, the Athabasca team, with the aid of some 55 yards worth of Huskie penalties, scored their only touchdown when Loiselle scored from the six yard line, Loiselle converted. Late in the fourth quarter Foster Stewart capped off a steady and outstanding game of quarterbacking when he elected to run, on an option, around left end and scored from the 11 yard line. This touchdown was scored after a 70 yard downfield march which displayed Stewart's faking, especially to McMillan and the running of McMillan, Bereza and Lobay plus a catch by Jim McCormick, of a Stewart pass. The convert attempt was wide. The leading ground gainer was John Bereza with 156 yards while Eugene Lobay was second with 96 yards.

Loiselle proved to be Athabsca's main spark once more.

The final score — 18-7 in favor of the Huskies.

Children To Assist UNICEF On Hallowe'en

LAC LA BICHE — Hallow'en will soon be here and in preparation for the canvass for funds for UNICEF again this year through the co-operation of pupils of Mrs. Mastaler's Grade 6 class, the secretary of the local Women's Institute, Mrs. J. Booker, has ordered 15 sets of tags and stickers to be used by the children in their canvass.

Last Hallowe'en some $14 was collected for UNICEF here and the children and their teacher have set a much higher objective for this year.

UNICEF'S Hallowe'en program, sponsored by the National UNICEF Committee, United Nations Association in Canada, has now become an established tradition all over Canada. Churches, schools and youth groups have endorsed the program since its beginning in 1955 and, as a result, close to ¾ million dollars have been raised by boys and girls who want to share their Hallowe'en fun with others by collecting coins for UNICEF as well as treats for themselves. The money collected combined with donations from over 100 other countries, provides health and welfare services to 57 million mothers and children. The child with the orange and black UNICEF box knows that each penny of his contribution is sufficient to provide seven glassse of milk to a youngster in India or to protect a child from TB in Egypt.

Remember, when the children call at your home Hallowe'en eve for their treats of apples or candy, if they carry the UNICEF boxes, give generously of your coins. Your support of this worthwhile endeavor, be it financial or otherwise, will result in a small child's smile which could brighten a dark world.

J. McMillan Heads Senior High Union

EACH PENNY collected by Alberta kiddies for UNICEF will provide seven glasses of milk for a youngster in India, or protect a child from TB in Egypt. Six thousand collected for UNICEF in the city last year, raising $5,790. Each country receiving contributions, matches them dollar for dollar.

REPORT FROM OTTAWA

By Anthony J. Wright

DON'T PROTEST SOVIET TESTING

Among all the dreary placard-toting that goes on here, especially during holidays when Parliament and government are out of town, none of the marching protesters seem mad about the Soviet Union's steady and callous testing and pollution of the air our people are breathing. It's now got to the point where young mothers in Ottawa are wondering whether it's safe to take babies out of doors. (N.B. Young babies, it appears, suffer more from radiation fallout than older folk.)

Anthony Wright

The marchers are chiefly interested in getting television coverage, national if possible. They generally have a stack of placards ready for any willing person to carry. Over Thanksgiving, a colleague tells me, song-sheets the protesters handed out were full of English songs printed in Britain — there seems to be some central organization for these holiday demonstrations.

LLOYD LIKE A LAMB AT ACCRA: According to some who took part in the Accra Economic Conference, which was enlivened by bitter speeches from Messrs Fleming and Hees, the weakest delegation and the feeblest presentation came from Great Britain. Chancellor of the Exchequer, Selwyn Lloyd, sat there like a lamb and seemed quite stunned by the noise from the outer daughter countries of the Commonwealth. It appears that Britain hoped the Common Market would not be discussed. It was a foolish hope.

Lloyd is not typical of the British government, Macmillan being anything but feeble or voiceless. Oddly if France comes apart at the seems because of attacks on de Gaulle, Britain, the reluctant partner, may, with Germany, be the saving of the Common Market and of the New Europe. But that's looking a head a bit.

TRAGEDY OF NEWFOUNDLAND: Howard Batten, Liberal from Newfoundland and one of the most competent men in the Commons, remarked sadly the other day that the summer fires on his island have done about $300 millions worth of damage. The pity of it is, he says, that Newfoundland had hopes of seeing a third big paper, or at least a pulp, mill start up soon. Now the fires have smothered that hope.

When forest fires sweep through balsam fir they leave enough in the soil usually for spruce trees to grow up later. But when fires sweep to and from across territory as they did this summer in Newfoundland they cremate the soil so thoroughly there is little chance for more trees except by reforestation. Hence one of Canada's poorer provinces has been made poorer still.

ARTHUR AND MICHAEL TAKE IN BALL GAME: On the first full day of talks here between US Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg and Canadian Labour Minister Michael Starr, the two ministers and their aides had lunch in the Parliamentary Restaurant. On the way out of the sixth floor restaurant they spied a television set, alone and dark, in a lounge nearby. Both men sensed something wrong about this situation. They went in and switched on the World Series.

As 2:30 came along Michael said to Arthur — "It's time we were getting back to business isn't it Arthur?" Arthur admitted it was but he felt that there was something churlish about abandoning the World Series just like that. So a compromise was arrived at. Arthur and Michael stayed with the WS and the others went downstairs to talk about mutual problems.

OTTAWA "WELCOMES" CHINESE: The government compromised in its handling of the 13 Chinese emissaries who have come to Canada to sell metal, minerals, chemicals, textiles, "animal by-products" and "native products" in return for the massive quantities of grain they are ready to buy from us. The Trade and Commerce Information Department released a bulletin about the arrival of the visitors but did it on plain paper without T & C letterhead. The idea, apparently, is to shake hands with gloves on.

Anyone who wishes to assist a little at this time is asked to leave donations at the Atmore Service Garage. Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I read with a great deal of dismay a letter by Mr. Henry Thompson in your paper of Oct. 14 and then an answer by Mr. Michael Maccagno in the following issue of Oct. 21. Both made mention of a councillor who remained nameless. However, this councillor seems to have been caught in the cross-fire between two political opponents. In case there is somebody in Lac la Biche who doesn't know who the councillor mentioned is, I am he, and I would therefore like to clarify my position.

First of all, I had no intentions or wishes of contesting the seat of mayor in our town. My impression has always been that a candidate is sought and nominated by a group of ratepayers to contest an office or position and does not seek the nomination. As such when I was asked by a large group of ratepayers if I would consent to let them nominate me for the office of mayor, I was both honored and surprised. I was as surprised as Mr. Maccagno obviously was because I felt that everybody was happy with the administration as it was. My answer to this group (after due consideration) was that I would be willing, (as indeed I am always willing to do what I can for our town) but that they were too late as I should have resigned my seat as councillor. They then tried to make me eligible by requesting that nomination day be postponed in order that I could qualify as their candidate. This they did by means of a petition. That in a few short hours a couple of men were able to secure a number of names on this petition equal to one-third of the actual voters on election day, I must admit was very complimentary and I must thank these citizens for their confidence.

I understand from those going around with the petition, that the issues were made clear and that those signing knew that a signature on this petition was indeed an unofficial vote on my behalf. That Mr. Maccagno would have signed the petition if it could have resulted in a contest is indeed an admirable statement but one with little meaning now that he has already been elected mayor by acclamation.

The handling of the petition by the secretary, Mr. Creighton, was indeed very well as are all other matters he deals with as town employee and no complaints have originated from me in this matter, as I have the utmost confidence in Mr. Creighton. He advised me of all he had done and I was satisfied that nothing else could have been done. The implication by Mr. Thompson that secretary Creighton refused to take action is indeed unfair and unjust.

In closing, I wish to state that neither Mr. Thompson nor Mr. Maccagno asked for or received any of the information on which they based their letters from me! Both obviously used the situation to wage a private political conflict. That Mr. Maccagno is where "in the realm of reason, politics entered into the picture."

Funeral Rites Held For Auguste Dumas

LAC LA BICHE — Funeral services for a well-known resident of Lac la Biche, Auguste Dumas who recently passed away suddenly at his home, were held from the St. Catherine's Roman Catholic Church. Rev. Father Veil conducted requiem high mass. Mrs. R. Joncas was organist and directed the choir.

Lamont Hospital School Of Nursing Holds Graduation Of Eleven Nurses

LAMONT — On Oct. 14 eleven young women received their prizes and diplomas as graduate nurses.

William Worbets, school principal of Lamont, was principal speaker. He congratulated the graduates but said they owed their achievement to many. Although most of them would marry, he said, they must not forget the obligation they owe to nursing because there is a nursing shortage of 3,000.

He said they had now reached maturity. They must live up to the demands of their profession and maintain its prestige. They should cultivate an attitude of gratitude and self-confidence, of being oneself and humility.

Their position was similar to the ship's captain who when asked for his moorings said: "Port is left and starbord is right."

Shiela Macpherson, the valedictorian, thanked the parents and instructors for making their graduation day possible. Her mother and one sister are nurses and were present.

Doreen Pytal presented Marie Young, the matron, with a bouquet on behalf of the nurses. Lunch was served to the relatives and friends in the Morley Young hall by the hospital auxiliary.

The 1961 class were: Helen Louise Connell, R.R. No. 3, Edmonton, Alberta; Jean Alice Haydamack, Box 506, Westlock; Nadie Koroluk, R.R. No. 1, Andrew; Sheila Gail Macpherson, 9827-106 St., Edmonton; Patricia Anne McBrien, Box 176, Stettler; Lillian Fay McCullough, Altario; Janet Ann Price, Tofield; Doreen Alice Pytal, Elk Point; Judith Ann Sheppard, Kitscoty; Paula Fay Spornitz, 1536 Knox Mountain Road, Kelowna, B.C.; and Catherine Jean Whitby, 10141-84 Ave., Edmonton.

The Anne Egglesfield Sinclair prize for the highest aggregate marks in her four months pre-clinical period was awarded to Caroline Gail Goddard, class '63.

The Intermediate Prize to the student showing the most progress in her intermediate year was awarded to Greta June Doigs, class '62.

The prize for general proficiency in obstetrical nursing, caseroom nursery, maternity and ward duty was awarded to Judith Ann Sheppard.

The nutrition prize — this award is presented each year to the candidate who has shown the keenest interest and greatest understanding of the dietary aspect in the treatment of the patient, was awarded to Patricia Anna McBrian.

The prize to the student who has contributed the most to the Student Nurses' Association in her three years, is decided by a vote of the Student Nurses' Association and was awarded to Doreen Alice Pytal.

The Elizabeth Young Memorial; highest aggregate marks for the three years, presented by Dr. M. A. R. Young, was awarded to Doreen Alice Pytal.

The General Proficiency Medal — presented by the Archer Memorial Hospital board of the United Church of Canada, presented by Dean Elston in the absence of Judge Buchanan.

Benediction was conducted by Rev. T. Kolber.

"Parents Can Assist Students," Thorhild Principal Tells HSA

THORHILD — "By keeping a watchful eye, parents can be of considerable help to students in High School", said M. Senych, principal of the Thorhild School.

Addressing the Thorhild Home and School Association meeting last Monday evening, Mr. Senych pointed out from his observations in the past that many students at the commencement of the year appear to be quite enthusiasic and then, after a number of months have passed, begin to slow down, sometimes even to the point of quitting school. By proper encouragement parents can help to build up the initiative and drive by helping their children to strive for higher goals. Mr. Senych also explained the various programs in High School and the importance of following these closely when choosing a career. Mr. Senych further pointed out that the matriculation program demands much more work and study than the diploma program. Mr. Senych told the parents to feel free to come and discuss problems at any time.

County Secretary-Treasurer P. G. Woloschuk informed the meeting of what the school committee was doing in regard to playground equipment for school children. William Koscielnuk and John Sawka were nominated as representatives of the Thorhild Home and School Association who, from time to time, will attend the meeting on the same day. ings in connection with the playground equipment. Mr. Woloschuk requested that representatives from all four school centres in the county attend the meeing on the same day.

Lunch was brought and served by mothers of students in Grades 9 and 10. Penny collection was won by the principal's room. Over 5 parents and teachers were present.

E. L. ARCHER has been appointed manager of the Redwater branch of The Royal Bank of Canada, succeeding G. G. Pearson who has been named manager of the bank's branch at Evansburg. Mr. Archer comes to his new post from Calgary, where he has been stationed for the past two years.

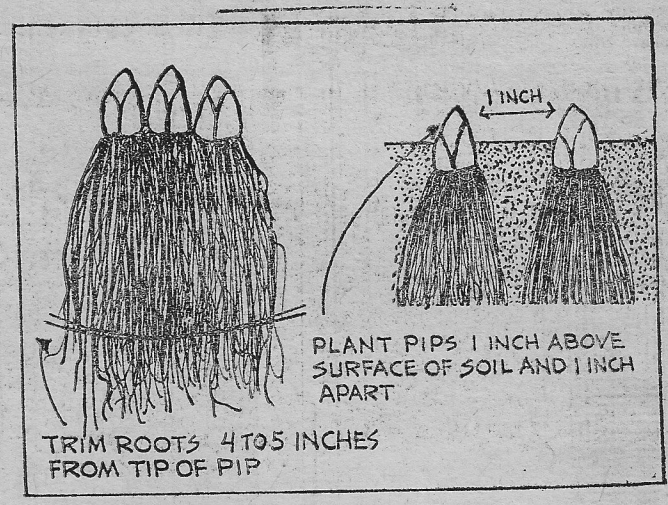
Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY



Flowers for Christmas

To have fragrant, easy-to-grow flowers blooming indoors this winter pot up some lily of the valley pips. Be sure to use only the "cold storage pips" which are specially grown and prepared for forcing.

They usually bloom three to four weeks after planting, so their dainty blooms can be enjoyed during all the holidays by planting several pots at two-week intervals.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, they usually have an overabundance of roots, which should be cut back to four or five inches for ease in planting them in pots. Perhaps the easiest method of growing lily of the valley bulbs, especially if one lives in an apartment, is in bowls or pots which have no drainage. A bowl or pot five inches in diameter will accommodate six to seven bulbs.

These pips can be planted in sand, soil, peat or in especially prepared bulb fibre, which should produce large flower heads, for it contains plant food in addition to charcoal, which aids in keeping the water sweet.

Plant the bulbs one inch apart, as shown, and one inch above the surface of the soil. Firm the pips well and water. Set them in a warm, dark place for two weeks or until the foliage is two or three inches high. Then bring out into the light and sun.

Newsprint Mill Will Change Life Of Whitecourt Farmer

by KEN LARSON

Fortunes fall to some, not to others. Nels Anderson never expected such a windfall — but this year it came in the form of a $35 million newsprint mill on his 210-acre farm at Whitecourt, Alberta, 100 miles northwest of Edmonton. He will receive a substantial amount for his land, keep 10 acres on which to build a new house, and have a year around job at the mill.

Nels Anderson, with wife, Agnes, son Karl . . . farm becomes a newsprint mill

Nels never dreamed that part of his father's luck might have rubbed off on him. At least, the kind of luck that he had back in the Gold Rush Days of 1898.

The elder Anderson walked from Edmonton to the Yukon with a 150 pound packsack on his back. He staked a claim and took out enough to return to Sweden, buy a $10,000 farm for his family, and settle down to a contented farm life.

However, Mr. Anderson grew restless. Lady Luck smiled on him again though, as he missed by one hour the Titanic which hit an iceberg in 1912 and sank in cold Atlantic waters, carrying 1,517 to their deaths.

He trudged up to the Yukon again in 1914. He and his partner worked a claim until the latter, in reckless despondency, packed up and left. He refused to dig another shovelful.

Mr. Anderson had to give up the claim. And this proves Lady Luck is fickle. She smiled on the two newcomers, because after two days' panning, they hit pay dirt — $50,000 worth of gold. Mr. Anderson's partner sat down and wept like a baby.

Mr. Anderson wrote for his family to come to Canada. Nels and his mother and the other Anderson children took the train from Edmonton to Onoway. From Onoway to Greencourt they travelled by oxen and then by mule team to Whitecourt in 1919.

About three miles from Whitecourt, the Andersons took out a homestead. They chopped through the wilderness, burned and pulled at the stumps, finally clearing enough for the home and a garden.

500 SACKS POTATOES

They cleared an additional acre among the poplar trees. They planted potatoes and reaped 500 sacks. Nels and his brother dug a deep hole in the snow which was six and a half feet when they arrived. They were only able to get out of their self-made snow prison when their mother answered their cries for help.

Nels left home in 1921 and worked in British Columbia piling lumber in the bush until 1941. He was married in Whitecourt in 1946 to the former Agnes Graham, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Graham, still live in Carbon, Alberta. They returned to B.C. in 1947 and moved to the farm at Whitecourt in 1952.

One summer when the CNR line to Whitecourt was being repaired near the farm the section gang was flabbergasted to see three pound carrots taken out of the Anderson garden. The parsnips were two and a half feet long.

50 ACRES BLUEBERRIES

Across the track on CN property there are 50 acres of big, juicy blueberries. Last summer one woman picked 40 pounds in one hour. Someone sent the report to an Edmonton radio station. The next Sunday there were at least 1,200 persons stripping the bushes of berries. Mrs. Anderson had filled orders for 300 pounds from regular customers, and had 200 pounds more to go. However, because she had to work in Whitecourt a few days, she lost out—the berries were all gone.

An indication of the first class big game hunting possibilities in the Whitecourt Forest area is given by Nels Anderson's account of a truly successfully hunt in 1932. Hunting on four permits with some friends, he bagged four moose and three deer, and canned 400 quarts of meat. Several years ago he shot a 13 point moose behind his house.

BOTHERSOME BEARS

Bears are not uncommon. They usually shoo them away. Recently, when Mrs. Anderson hung a cloth bag of cottage cheese on the clothes line overnight to dry, a bear pulled it off and scampered away with it. The children, Orville, 15; Mary, 13; Kenneth, 10; Joyce, 9; Karen, 11, and Karl, 3½, were blamed. They don't like cottage cheese. The bear came back the next morning and the torn cloth bag was found in the bushes nearby.

The face of the old homestead is changing now. A $35 million newsprint mill — the first in western Canada — began this month, according to the Alberta West Newsprint Mills Ltd.

Three hundred tons of newsprint a day will be produced in about 22 months time, employing a staff of 1,000.

Ten acres of the 210 acre farm will be left for the use of the Andersons. They will build a new home and Nels will have a good job at the mill. Sawing lumber is nothing new to him. He has cut 200,000 feet since returning to the farm. He sells it in the springtime and probably pounds nails through his own lumber when he works on various homes going up in Whitecourt as a part-time carpenter.

So it would seem fickle Lady Luck is agin smiling on the Andersons, possibly trying to make up for that $50,000 loss in the Yukon.

Athabasca County May Use Money Surplus For Schools

Athabasca County Council considered the recommendation of the School Committee at a meeting on October 12.

The committee hopes that surpluses over from last year's debenture will be spent on landscaping and sidewalks in the Smith school, and providing the furniture and equipment for a commercial room at Boyle and Grassland schools.

A bylaw is required asking permission from the local authorities to do so.

The committee appointed to investigate the drainage problem involving Botten, McNamara and others, chairman Loam and Councillor Lechky, reported on their investigation. This will involve ditching between Sec. 7 and 8 and through 12-65-19. This solution did not meet with the approval of some of the people involved.

Following a meeting with the ratepayer, Councillor Krajacic reported he recommended paying for 74 posts and $6 labor, but nothing for unauthorized brushing.

The NW 33-65-22 and the SW 4-66-22 were sold to Fred Olson.

Delegates to the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts Nov. 14, 15, 16 and 17 will be all those councillors who are able to attend as delegates. With the school trustees' convention coming so close, many felt they should not attend both.

A list of bridge requests were received for 1962.

Three councillors reported on the Joe Kilar drainage complaint. They felt it could be remedied by placing two culverts and a ditch block.

L. Duplessis was in to see the council in regard to his new proposed road, which he felt would be too lengthy. The matter will be reinvestigated with the idea of using the SW corner of the NE of 22-66-19 to give Mr. Duplessis access to the SE 22-66-19 from the NW 22-66-19.

The Bottens were also present as a delegation and when the steps were explained that the council wished to take, they felt content to see if the solution worked.

John Good also was asking why the road near him had been built at both ends and left in the middle. It was explained this stretch was waiting for a motor grader and that as soon as one was available the road would be completed, if possible this year.

A bylaw was passed adopting the assessed values of 1961 for 1962, subject to additions.

County maps are now available and may be purchased at the office for $1.50.

A form letter was received from PFA to see if there were any changes to be made in the estimated yields but they were left as they were.

Five road complaints were listened to by the council, and there will possibly be some action taken next year.

One drainage complaint was heard and dealt with in similar fashion.

Offer of planks for sale was not acted upon as there is a sufficient quantity on hand for some time.

One gravel permit has been issued.

A letter dealing with Winter Works was read. Council is not planning any work this year and no action was taken.

Secretary-treasurer Leskiw read the financial statement. It showed $76,102 of current taxes collected to Sept. 30, far behind last year's collections. Arrears collections are still far behind that of last year.

Monday was the end of the 3 per cent discount, but ratepayers can still take 2 per cent discount until Dec. 1.

The November meeting will be moved forward one week due to conventions. School committee will meet Nov. 7 and the County Council will meet Nov. 9.

Imitation Ducks Decoy Hunters

HYLO — A surprising episode occured some time ago when a young duck hunter, well equipped with decoys, duck call, and gun, decided to leave the decoys for collection at a later date. He set the decoys on a field atop a hill near a farmhouse where ducks often came to feed. A nearly bush was an excellent hiding place and with quacking at short intervals one was certain to bag the limit in a few hours.

The next day, with the temperature 12° above and light snow falling, an elderly gentleman of the community decided it was a perfect duck hunting day. Upon entering the above field he espied the decoys and mistaking them for ducks, took to the bush where he waited patiently for two ducks to move closer together in hopes he might kill two ducks with one shot. Finally, after an hour's wait in which the so, thought ducks did not move, he became curious and, gun in hand with hammer hack, approached cautiously. Realizing that they were mere decoys he stared disgustedly and returned home.

Six o'clock the following morning a middle-aged lady-hunter, well known for her markmanship with a shot gun, spotted the supposed ducks and crept stealthily towards them. When within the right range, she fired a careful shot. Seeing that the ducks did not move she decided that because of the wind she was not heard, so she crept once again till she came close enough to distinguish them from real ducks. Astonished she arose and marvelled how completely she was deceived.

Several days later, while discing in the aforesaid field, a young lad noticed some partridges and hastened to a neighbor's farm house, requesting a gun and shells. Breathlessly he explained his intentions to the farmer who was already aware of the previous incidents. Questioning the lad of the exact location of the supposed partridges, the amused farmer related the above stories. After hilarous laughter, they parted in jovial mood.

To surprise your little tricksters, serve them Jiffy Lollipopcorns when they come knocking at your door on October 31. These caramel-flavored popcorn suckers will bewitch any "goblin" on Hallowe'en.

JIFFY LOLLIPOPCORNS

½ lb. (28) caramels
2 tablespoons water
2 quarts poped corn

Melt caramels in water in top of double boiler over boiling water, stirring frequently. Place popped corn in large bowl and pour caramel sauce over; toss until the corn is well coated. Place a 3" x 1" round mold on a greased cookie sheet; press mixture into mold. Remove mold and insert end of wooden skewer in lollipop. Makes about 8.

B. McCutcheon

To make a mold, cut cardboard strip, 3½ inches long, and 1 inch wide; cover with aluminum foil. Clip ends of strip together to make 3" circle. Buttered muffin tins may be used for molds.

Dress up popcorn suckers with bows of gaily colored ribbon if you are having a party.

All of us want this to be an evening free of accidents. No one would think of spoiling the youngster's fun because we were young once too. Here are some suggestions that will help.

Buy or make your children light colored costumes. They are easier to see at night.

Make sure they are not a tripping hazard and are flameproof.

Masks are dangerous because they restrict vision.

If tiny tots are out after dark make sure there is an older person to help them.

Remind all children of the safety rules they are taught in school.

Motorists can help by slowing down and watching especially for the children who will be abroad on Hallowe'en.

The coming generation is the world's best asset but the adults of the world are a bit slow to spend money on the future rulers of the universe.

Principal M. W. Rudiak Outlines Grade 12 Examination Results

VILNA — The Home and School Association under the chairmanship of Max Buyar held its first meeting last week.

Amongst the heavy agenda were items of interest to Home and School members.

School principal M. W. Rudiak, in his report to the home and school meeting, outlined Vilna's Grade 12 results of the June final examinations.

Of the 34 Grade 10 students last school term, 15 registered as matriculation students, 13 were diploma registrants, while six were enrolled in a partial Grade 12 program to overcome deficiencies of the previous year.

Matriculation students, explained Mr. Rudiak, are those whose program, with a 60% average or better, would entitle them to be admitted to any faculty at the university.

Vilna matriculation and diploma students attained a rewarding standard. Of the 15 students enrolled in a matriculation program, 11 obtained clear matriculation and, of these, nine have been admitted either to the university, or to the school of nursing. Moreover, two obtained more than 50% in every subject, but were short of a 60% average for university. Two received one or more C's, or a mark below 50%.

Of the 13 diploma students in the school, 11 qualified for a high school diploma, while two were short of a credit in one subject, only, to meet a diploma standing.

Provincial promotion averages, continued Principal Rudiak in some detail, are set by the department of education in a fixed ratio. This ratio is maintained from year to year. Of approximately 12,000 students writing last year, 5% were given an H standing (80 to 100%), 20% an A standing (65 to 79%), 35% a B standing (50 to 64%), 25% a C standing (40 to 49%), while 15% failed.

Mr. Rudiak disclosed further that of a total of 140 final examination papers turned in by Grade 12 students in all subjects, seven were scored below 40%. According to the provincial table, then, this was above average and, therefore, favorable for the school. On this basis, the provincial average would have permitted students to have 21 papers in the D group; 35 papers were scored below 50%, whereas according to the provincial average, we would have had 56 papers. In summary, 95% of the papers written, or 133 out of the 400 papers, received credit, whereas only 5%, or seven papers, did not.

Mr. Rudiak felt that the Grade 12 class made a commendable showing in their academic work.

Mrs. Pearl Behm presented a financial report on the Ukrainian instructional fund, one which accumulated from an extra-curricular school program of two years ago. A banked surplus of $138.86 will be turned over to the purchase of library books. John Shysh, Alex Krawchuk and Nick Lobay, together with president Buyar, form the library committee.

Steve Pacholek, director of the water safety and swimming program, reported that 81 participants were enrolled in the Red Cross swimming classes at Bonnie Lake. Of these, 75% were successful in the swimming tests. Instructors were Miss Delia Kureluk and Alex Werstiuk.

Mr. Pacholek extended his personal appreciation for all help, and expressed a hope that a similar program would be carried out in the future.

Mrs. Popowich, district regional director, encouraged executive and interested home and school members to attend a regional conference to be held at Elk Point on Nov. 4. Fred Fowler, Anton Solar, Kornel Tkachyk, Martin Iftody and Max Buyar will represent the local association.

As in previous years, the home and school are sponsoring kindergarten classes. Miss Ila Newton accepted the request to supervise instruction. She will be assisted, in turn, by mothers of the youngsters.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 2. It will be a "dumpling" dinner meeting.

Pupils Hold Apple Sale

The Grade 6 pupils held an apple sale one day recently at the Derwent School, supervised by Mrs. Alice Wysocki, the Grade 6 teacher.
